Lt. Gov. Shafer Challenges GOP To "Polish Our Image" In Lincoln Day Dinner Talk

Lt. Gov. Raymond P. Shafer Wednesday evening hit hard at the weaknesses of the Republican party in one of the most inspiring Lincoln Day dinner addresses in Gettysburg in many years. "Our tarnished image must be polished," he declared before nearly 900 Adams County Republicans gathered in the Gettysburg College dining hall to observe Lincoln Day.

In a straight-from-the-shoulder speech Shafer asserted:

"We must regain the public image of responsibility. The Democratic party seems to stand for everything in particular . . . the Republican party seems to stand for nothing in particular.

ARE VULNERABLE

"We must admit . . . that some of the impressions of our actions have made us vulnerable. As a party we must come to distinguish between timeless truths and momentary illusions. We must not cling to things that have outlived an era, or invoke the blessings of bygone accomplishments.

"If we are capable of rising to the challenge the Republican party can provide leadership worthy of the 20th century. We now are the minority party; to become the majority party, we must deserve it.

Drawing from the historic records of Lincoln and Churchill, Shafer continued, "Our ultimate mon sense which Lincoln and last week by an Adams County the phrase, the sentence . . . and the death of his wife and motherdisplayed in their deeds."

Reassessment Begins In Town

Field work in connection with the reassessment of all properties in the county began today in the Third Ward here.

Adolph Doll of the Morrison Co., making the survey, said he expected that by Monday a total of nine men will be working Gettysburg in the effort to complete he survey of the approximately ,800 properties in the borough within three weeks.

From the Third Ward the crew will move to the First, then to the Second Ward, according to present plans. Doll said residents "could help speed the work" if they know the size of their lots, when asked that question by the crew

So far about 10,000 properties have been checked in the resurvey, out of approximately 18,000 in the county. The work is to be completed by September.

State police from the Gettysourg substation today were to question three men and five jueniles in Dauphin County on possible participation in Adams County burglaries.

Up to Wednesday police from seven counties had accused the group of 46 crimes and the number, according to police, is expected to "go well over the 50 Alton Blair Clark, 39-year-old mark.'

"I am happy to send greetings to my friends and neighbors in Adams County, Pennsylvania, on the occasion of the annual Republican Lincoln Day dinner. I am particularly pleased to know that Republicans in my district are taking this opportunity to pay tribute to our former congressman, George A. Goodling, who faithfully represented the citizens of the 19th Congressional District for two terms.

"I congratulate you on the opportunity of hearing this evening my friend, Lt. Governor Ray Shafer. He is an outstanding leader and experienced in the business of state government. I send to him, to you, and to all my fellow Republicans present, my very best wishes."

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)-"In boomerang. They underestimate the intelligence of the Africans.'

Yang, a handsome graving man, picked up an African wood carving, peered at it then continued: "They believe cynically that the Africans can either be corrupted or intimidated. They do not believe that human beings are capable of grandeur.'

Yang, Nationalist China's vice minister of foreign affairs, is Chiang Kai-shek's top expert on Africa. In his own way he is fighting the Chinese Communists there. Though on the surface the two Chinas seem poorly matched, the small Nationalist

In connection with the observance of National Crime Prevention Week next week) the FBI has issued the following statement:

Crime is ugly, vicious, sordid and degrading. Perhaps that is the reason so many "nice" people avoid involvement with the crime problem.

As a nation, we get a vicarious thrill from constant association with crime in our movies, TV and radio programs, books, magazines and newspapers, yet, paradoxically, we shy away from personal actions to prevent or solve crimes and convict criminals.

The majority attitude toward the crime problem can be expressed in words remindful of a familiar song: "Let it grow, let it grow, let it grow.' and grow it does, shockingly and with ominous monotony, year after year after year because so many Americans have adopted the ostrich-like attitude of "noninvolvement."

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, in his special message for National Crime Prevention Week - February 14-20, this year - discusses the disgraceful phenomenon of today's "noninvolved" citizen. Mr. Hoover says, "With hat brim pulled down, head turned away, and eyes averted, he dedeliberately scurries past the scene of the brutal attack, ignoring the frantic screams for help from his fellow citizen even as the attacker's blows continue to batter the victim's

"But is there, in reality, any citizen who is not involved in America's crime problem? the very lack of action on the part of the 'mouse man,' as one columnist calls the citizen who turns deaf ears to his neighbor's cry for help, has its effect. Such a person is embarking on a course which. history teaches, may well end in his experiencing as a victim the terror to which he closed his eyes when it struck his fellow man. For by ignoring crime, we encourage the criminal."

The time is overdue for the "nice" people - the good guys - to realize they had better drop the shameful philosophy of "noninvolvement" or face the inevitable, tragic role of victims.

The logical question is what can the good guys do? The simple answer is summed up in the slogan and theme of the 18th annual National Crime Prevention Week -"Lend a Hand to Arrest Crime." It means giving your law enforcement agencies and their personnel your full support, cooperation and encouragement. The only requirement is to do your duty as a

Notify the police when you are aware a crime is being or has been committed, or even if you suspect it. Keep alert so you can furnish police officers with accurate descriptions of persons and vehicles involved or suspected of involvement in crimes.

Stiffen your backbone and prefer criminal charges when warranted. Volunteer evidence and, if necessary, appear in court. Accept jury service as a privilege, which it is, and don't connive to be excused.

Insist on strict enforcement of the laws and give your law enforcement agencies the backing they need to do it. Vote for public officials who will uphold and enforce the RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) - A pert and bright-eyed 17-year-old American girl has whipped some of the best veteran horsemen of Brazil to become the nation's junior champion in dressage.

She is Sue Anne Brynes, a pretty junior at Rio's American School. Her ambition is to wind up on Uncle Sam's Olympic equestrian team.

Experts believe she can. One of them, Patricia Galvin, member of the U.S. team and dressage gold medal winner at the Pan American Games held last year in Sao Paulo, says, "She is bound to be a noted dressagist and champion."

Many other riders who have competed against Sue, among them Brazilian cavalry officers with years of experience, think that too.

Daughter of a career diplomat, Sue was born in Decatur, Ind., and lived in Charleston, Illinois and New York City until nine years ago when her family moved to Brazil. Her father Dr. Arthur Byrnes, is deputy director of the Alliance for Progress mission in Brazil's vast and povertystricken northeast. STARTED AT 9

Sue began riding when she was nine years old and became really serious about it when she was 14. She now puts in at least 17 hours weekly riding, and has won prizes in jumping as well as dressage. But the latter eventthe intricate and elegant maneuvers that sometimes are described as "ballet on horseback" -that won her most important trophies. She has competed in 15 Brazilian events, taking eight firsts and never finishing out of the winner's column. As Brazil's Junior champion she defeated contestants with many years more experience since the event is oper to riders who have not won first or second in a national Brazilian event.

In competitions, she frequently rides her own horse, Aquidaban, an Army-trained 15-year-old dun colored Gauchoe horse which holds Brazil's vice-championship for dressage.

Chanel Is Topic For New Musical

NEW YORK (AP) - Frederick musical based upon the 50-year career of Gabrielle "Coco" Chanel, Paris couturiere and perfumist.

He acquired dramatic rights for the enterprise more than a year ago, recently activated the project by a series of conferences with the renowned French woman. The show, tentatively entitled "Coco," is to trace her story from humble origin as a Marseilles seamstress to international

City To Support Festival Budget

NEW YORK (AP)-City officials are backing the free-admission summer Shakespeare Festival in Central Park with a $350,-000 grant.

The sum, approximately half of the festival's budget, will be used in part to defray costs of having the company visit other parts of the city. For its 10th season, the festival is presenting "Hamlet," "Othello" and Sophocles' "Electra" at its 2,000-seat home theater from June 10 to August 29.

Furnishes Trailer In Rare Heirlooms

CLEWISTON, Fla. (AP) There are plenty of modern house trailers in Florida but not many sport 17th Century furniture.

Hers apparently does, says Miss Anna Colborne, who retired from the Detroit Telephone Co. and came to Clewiston to grow orchids.

She installed in her trailer a table and four chairs handed down in her family. Then one day a vacationist stopped to admire her orchids and observed "orchids are out of my line -I'm an antique appraiser."

"He inspected the table and chairs thoroughly and said they were of English make of the 17th Century." Miss Colborne said. "He thought they were of the style known as Plymouth from the craftsmen building furniture at Plymouth, England, at that time." She said the chairs were appraised at $1,000 each, and the table at more. Miss Colborne said she had no idea the furniture dated further back than the days of her grandmother.

NEVER THE TWAIN BIRMNGHAM, Ala. (AP) -Somebody got their directions mixed in drafting a subpoena for a "Larry C. West." When deputies tried to serve the subpoena at the address listed, they were informed that, "This is the residence of Larry East." A hurried trip back to the courthouse corrected the situation. East was wanted as a witness in a damage suit.
